To answer the question 'which opens a thousand answers' is Boiani George, vice president of AsConAuto, the Consortia Auto Dealers Association representing more than 20,700 repair shops through 22 consortia in 16 Italian regions.      Car workshop without fear, how to choose      "A brand that identifies the workshop - he explains - is usually the first sign of quality and safety, because who exposes a trademark must ensure an adequate level of professionalism." More complex is to recognize the quality of repair. "The ideal - supports Boiani - would not only inform the driver of the damage of the car, but also intervention needed to restore it in full working order. In budget it should be specified both the type of spare parts for both the hours of necessary manpower. This step is so important often jumps, creating disputes and quarrels at the time of payment and fueling distrust among motorists and workers."      On the type of parts opens another chapter. "Choose the original is a guarantee: the defective part is replaced with an identical, functional, guaranteed by the House. In the alternative, there are equivalents: the same element, from the same manufacturer, is delivered directly to the chain skipping the passage of the house. Again, the quality is guaranteed. From totally avoid, even if economically most convenient, stolen or forged parts. Counterfeiting - underlines the vice president of AsConAuto - in addition to generating a profit of millions of euro that out of control, is dangerous. A hood of a car with a millimetratura not comply - for example - marks the difference between life and death in a collision."      "To rely in safety to a autoripatore - concludes Boiani - it is not necessary to choose the most expensive, but the most clear in the diagnosis and quote. The next goal? Certify the parts directly in the bill, so be sure of what is mounted on our car."      Please follow and like us: Viewed: 1
